Issue 20

Friday 23rd February 2018

The behaviour of our children in school is excellent. They are determined learners, compassionate friends and the whole school community is based on respect.

It is not just when the children are in school that they demonstrate these values, they also understand their importance wherever they are.

This week our Year 4 class visited the Imperial War Museum where a member of the museum staff and also a member of the public took the time to approach a representative of our school to commend the children for their excellent behaviour and good manners.

Well done to all the children in Sharks and Stingrays who were such fantastic ambassadors of Sandgate Primary.

Mr Matthew Green, Headteacher
