Issue 1

Friday 25th September 2020

During the summer break, I wrote to you all detailing our plans to have Google Classroom up and running by September just in case there are any further school closures.

As things stand, it still seems that the most likely reason some children may have to remain at home is if there is a class closure rather than a school wide closure, however, we are prepared for all possibilities.

Using Google Classroom allows class teachers to send and receive learning remotely as well as delivering lessons to the children in real-time.

We have also decided to extend our use of Google Classroom to our home learning, which is why children have been coming home with small tasks to complete. You should have received letters from the school giving details of how Classrooms can be accessed and we will continue to send home such letters as we all get used to learning this new system.

This week, I sent a survey to all parents to help me identify those children that may not have access to remote learning; if you have not already done so, please would you take the time to complete it. The information that this survey provides is essential to us as, in the case of any closures, we will be loaning equipment to any child that needs it to ensure that no child is unable to access lessons and learning.
